DETAILED ACTION

The following action is in response to the amendment filed for application 10/706,215 filed on May 5, 2005.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, and 3-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Williams '159. (first position L and second position H, wherein the couple 92 connects ring gear 68 and the power input 62).

Claims 10-13, 16-21, and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Kato. (coupler driveably connects the ring gear and the transmission output (extended part of the carrier)).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 14-15, and 22-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kato as applied to claims 20, and 22, respectively, above, and further in view of Williams '603.

Art Unit: 3681

Kato teaches the transfer mechanism, but lacks the specific teaching wherein the coupler 52 is a synchronizer. Williams teaches a range clutch 82 with a coupler that is a synchronizer (paragraph 17). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Kato to employ a synchronizer as a coupler in further view of Williams in order to prevent shift shock.

Claim 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Williams as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Kato. Williams teaches the mechanism, but lacks the teaching of a friction clutch. Kato teaches a mechanism comprising a clutch 22; a first member 56; a second member 50; a first set of friction elements; a second set of friction elements (Fig. 2); a piston 58; a cylinder (Fig. 2); and cylinder in response to a pressurized state and a vented state of the cylinder, alternately driveably connecting and disconnecting the first set of friction elements and second set of friction elements, whereby the first output and second output are alternately driveably connected and disconnected (Fig. 2). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Williams to employ a friction clutch arrangement in view of Kato in order to provide a more precise and smoother control for connection of said clutch.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 1 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Please note: Kato teaches the ring gear being locked or fixed to the output (carrier) which is analogous to Fig. 6 of the present invention. Williams teaches the ring gear being locked or fixed to the input (62), which is analogous to Fig. 5 of the present invention.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

FACSIMILE TRANSMISSION

Submission of your response by facsimile transmission is encouraged. Group 3600's facsimile number is (703) 305-3597. Recognizing the fact that reducing cycle time in the processing and examination of patent applications will effectively increase a patent's term, it is to your benefit to submit responses by facsimile transmission whenever permissible. Such submission will place the response directly in our examining group's hands and will eliminate Post Office processing and delivery time as well as the PTO's mail room processing and delivery time. For a complete list of correspondence not permitted by facsimile transmission, see MPEP 502.01. In general, most responses and/or amendments not requiring a fee, as well as those requiring a fee but charging such fee to a deposit account, can be submitted by facsimile transmission. Responses requiring a fee which applicant is paying by check should not be submitting by facsimile transmission separately from the check.

Responses submitted by facsimile transmission should include a Certificate of Transmission (MPEP 512). The following is an example of the format the certification might take:

I hereby certify that this correspondence is being facsimile transmitted to the Patent and Trademark Office (Fax No. (703) 305-3597) on _____ (Date)

Typed or printed name of person signing this certificate:

(Signature)

If your response is submitted by facsimile transmission, you are hereby reminded that the original should be retained as evidence of authenticity (37 CFR 1.4 and MPEP 502.02). Please do not separately mail the original or another copy unless required by the Patent and Trademark Office. Submission of the original response or a follow-up copy of the response after your response has been transmitted by facsimile will only cause further unnecessary delays in the processing of your application; duplicate responses where fees are charged to a deposit account may result in those fees being charged twice.
